This week, Fox Class have been enjoying the story 'The Firework-Maker's Daughter' by Philip Pullman and have been acting out scenes from the story in order to explore the characters further.

This week, hedgehogs have been working on measurements and perimeter. We have converted centimetres, millimetres and metres and calculated the total perimeter of objects around the classroom.

Hedgehog class went on a trip to Norwich Castle. We learned about what life must have been like.

We made some fantastic drawings of the castle in our new sketch books.
